

WORKING TOGETHER TO PROTECT IOWA'S CHILDREN

Iowa Chapter of Children's Advocacy Centers (ICCAC) is a nonprofit organization accredited by the National Children's Alliance as a state chapter to provide support, training and guidance to the six Children's Advocacy Centers (CACs) in Iowa who provide onsite services to child victims of either physical or sexual abuse and neglect. ICCAC assists communities and centers with training, resource development, network services, evidence-based practices, and coordinated, comprehensive services.

ICCAC serves all 99 counties and the six Iowa CACs which include: Mercy One Child Advocacy Center in Sioux City, Blank Children's STAR & Development Center in West Des Moines, St. Luke's Child Protection Center in Cedar Rapids, Mississippi Valley Child Protection Center in Muscatine, Child Protection Response Center in Davenport, and Allen Child Protection Center in Waterloo with a satellite office in Mason City.

100% of CACs agreed or strongly agreed that the Chapter:

- ✓ Enabled CACs to stay better connected with colleagues across the state
- ✓ Provided clear communication services and support
- ✓ Helped work through challenges experienced this year

HOW WE ARE FUNDED

ICCAC is 100% grant funded. The Chapter's operational budget is 66% funded through the National Children's Alliance through a Department of Justice subaward through Victims of Child Abuse Act. Accredited CACs in Iowa that receive state funding contribute 26% of the Chapter's operational budget. The Iowa Department of Public Health administers an annual grant to the CACs. The CACs, in turn, transfer a portion of the grant funds to the Chapter to cover operational expenses and identified costs and CAC needs organized by the Chapter. An additional 8% of funding is provided through the Midwest Regional Child Advocacy Center to provide training opportunities for the CAC membership.
